Contact:
Jason Rutherford
Model Technology Solutions
314-401-6698
jason.rutherford@model-technology.com

MODEL TECHNOLOGY SOLUTIONS WELCOMES STEVE BOWMAN AS VICE PRESIDENT OF SALES

St. Louis, MO (January 11, 2018) – Model Technology Solutions, a St. Louis-based consulting and managed services provider specializing in IT automation, announces the addition of Steve Bowman as vice president of sales. Bowman will lead Model's sales strategy and execution, with a key focus on expanding the company's proven managed services offering locally and regionally.

"Our primary goal in selecting the right addition to our leadership team was to find someone who shared Model's passion for exceeding clients' expectations and delivering smart IT solutions with integrity," said Model managing partner, Jason Rutherford. "Having worked with Steve in the past, I know firsthand how dedicated he is to customer satisfaction, and I'm confident in the tremendous value he will bring to our team, clients and community at large."

Bowman has an extensive history helping cross-industry clients apply the appropriate technology to achieve business results, having led several successful technology sales team expansions in his roles as vice president of sales at Oakwood Systems Group and, most recently, solutions manager at Object Computing Inc.

"I'm passionate about helping organizations uncover the right technology solutions to accomplish their business goals," Bowman said. "Companies are facing growing demands in security and productivity but with fewer resources to do the work, so it's exciting to join Model at a time when companies can benefit more than ever from Model's unparalleled depth of expertise in automation technology."

Bowman, his wife Suzy and their three children live in St. Charles, Missouri where they are active members of Harvester Christian Church, and are involved with several local non-profits such as The Salvation Army, LovetheLOU, and Global Charity Systems.

For interview opportunities or additional information, please contact Jason Rutherford at 314-401-6698 or via email at jason.rutherford@model-technology.com. Additional information about Model Technology Solutions can be found at http://model-technology.com/.

About Model
Model Technology Solutions' experts in automation are laser-focused on helping businesses realize the transformative power of IT automation using technologies like OMS, System Center, PowerShell, EMS and many more. In consulting and managed services engagements, Model's solution engineers delve deeply to understand the unique nuances of each environment and build long-term partnerships to walk alongside customers as they grow in technology. Model is a Microsoft Gold Datacenter Partner and Silver Windows and Devices Partner.

###